our generation finds

Our generation finds school life the central part of its environment. Everything revolves in and around school with sports, dances, plays, concerts, and tournaments. Every day brings with it something different and exciting, if only we, as individuals, look for it.

a part of school life

Having friends forms a basis for the typical school life. A good laugh together, a time of silence and peaceful meditation, as well as time for constructive enthusiasm create some meaningful and memorable experiences.

Countless generations have proved that spirit
is the real soul of man.
As one Spanish Maxim puts it,
"He that loseth wealth
loseth much;
he that loseth friends,
loseth more;
but he that loseth spirit, loseth all."

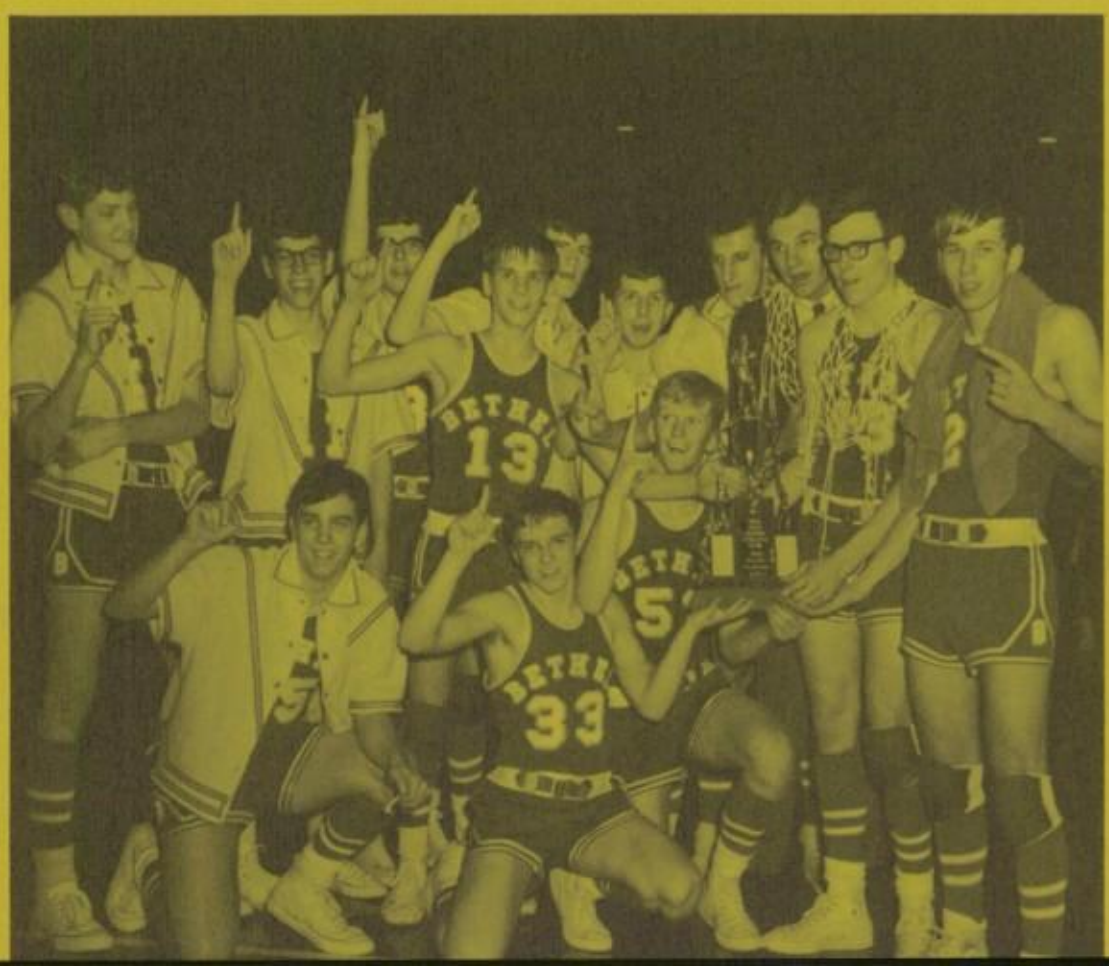
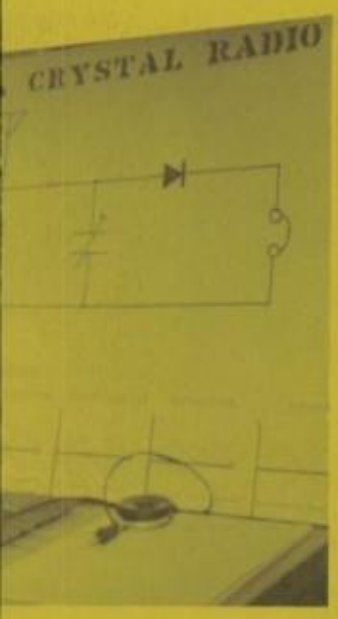
accomplishments . . .



building a better future



The year 1968 was a year of many accomplishments. Probably highest on the list would be the capturing of the District Champs trophy in the '67-68 basketball season. But also to be remembered were the less publicized accomplishments made by the individuals. Everything from developing of an art to the growth of patriotism found itself a promised part in the activities of this school year.

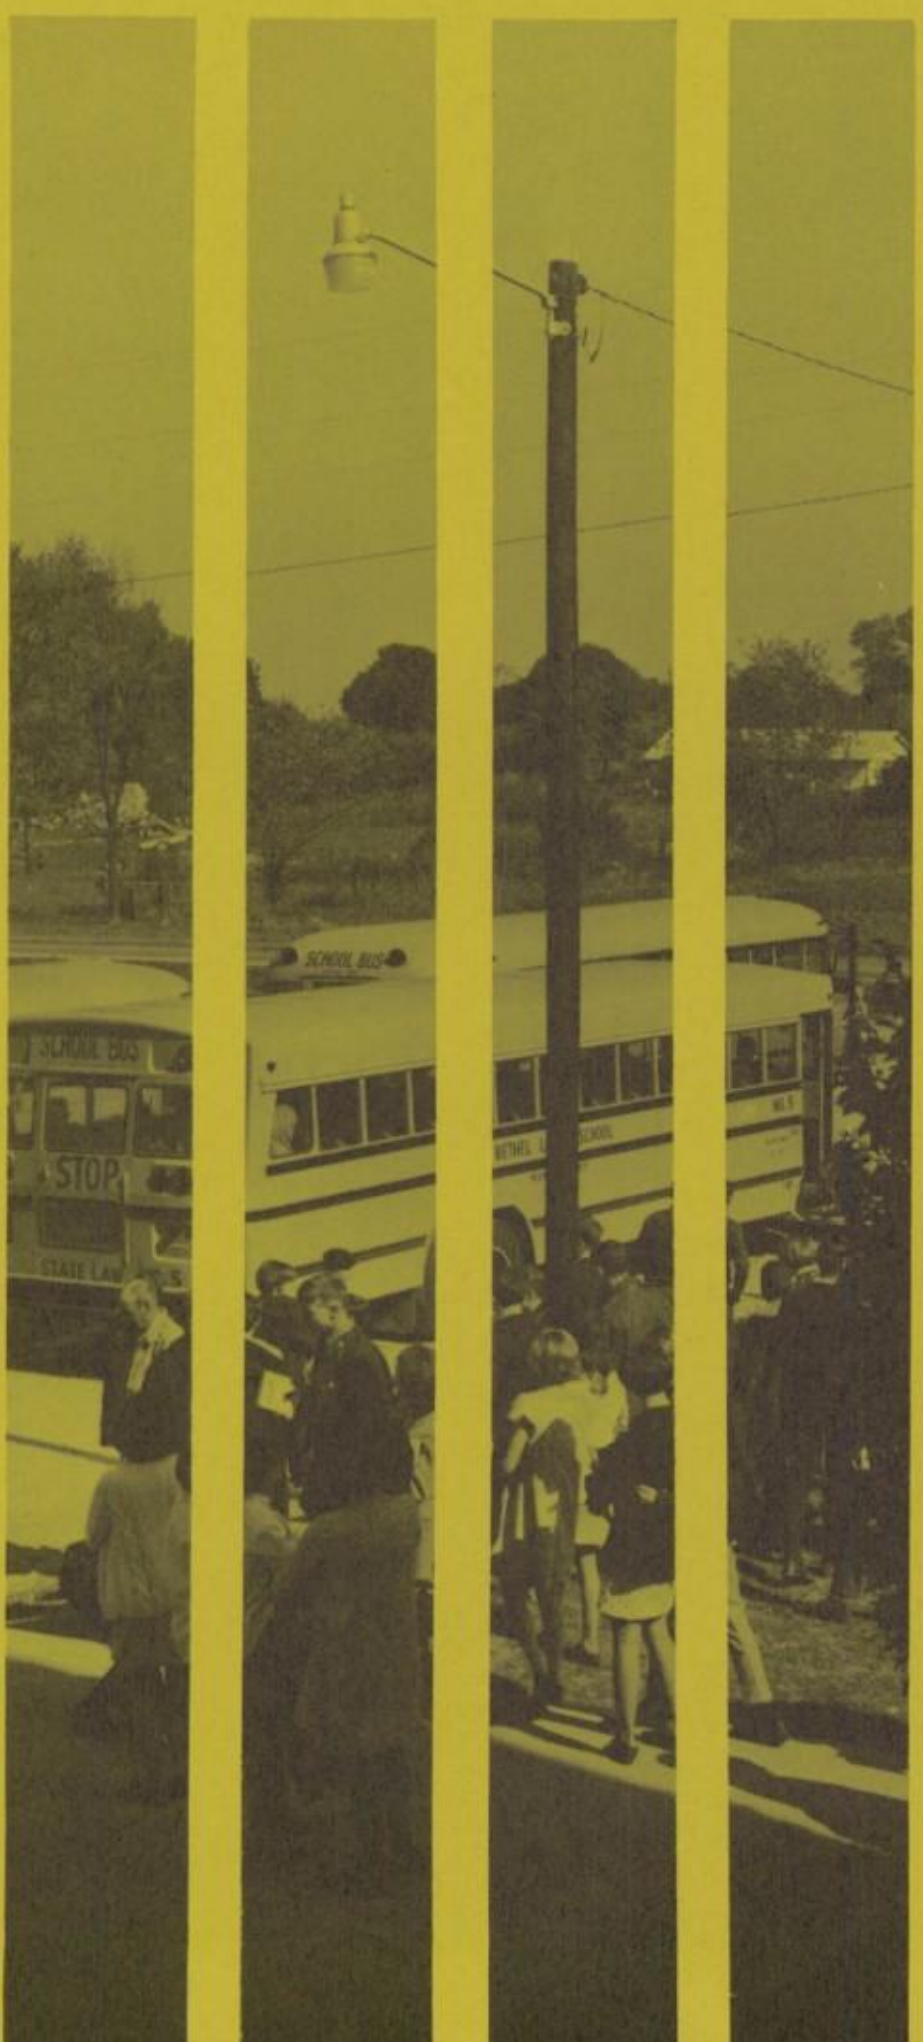
in focus



This is our school.
It belongs to us and, likewise,
it can be only what we make it. Since it is our school, only we can appreciate the love and emotions that go into it to make it a better place in which to live, work, and grow up.

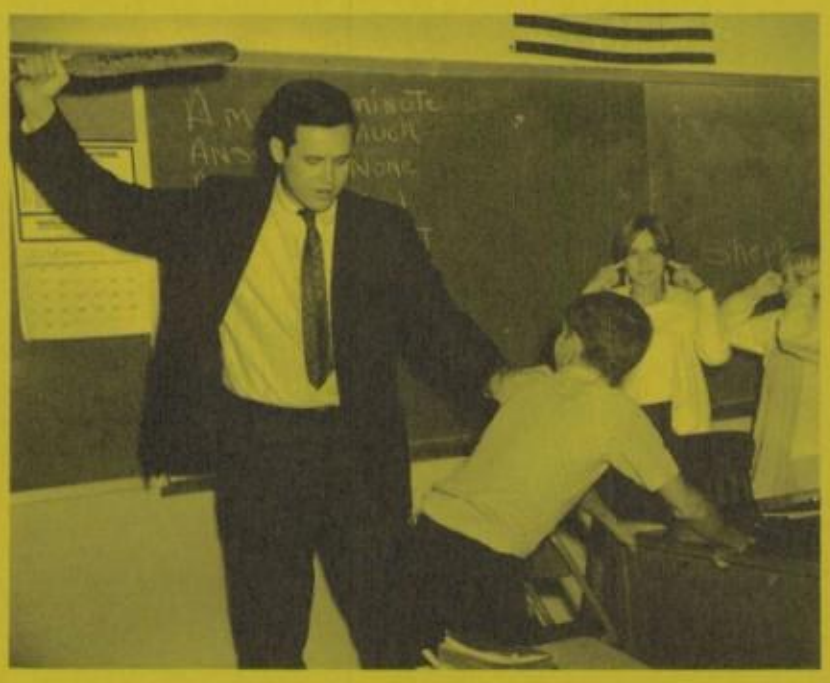
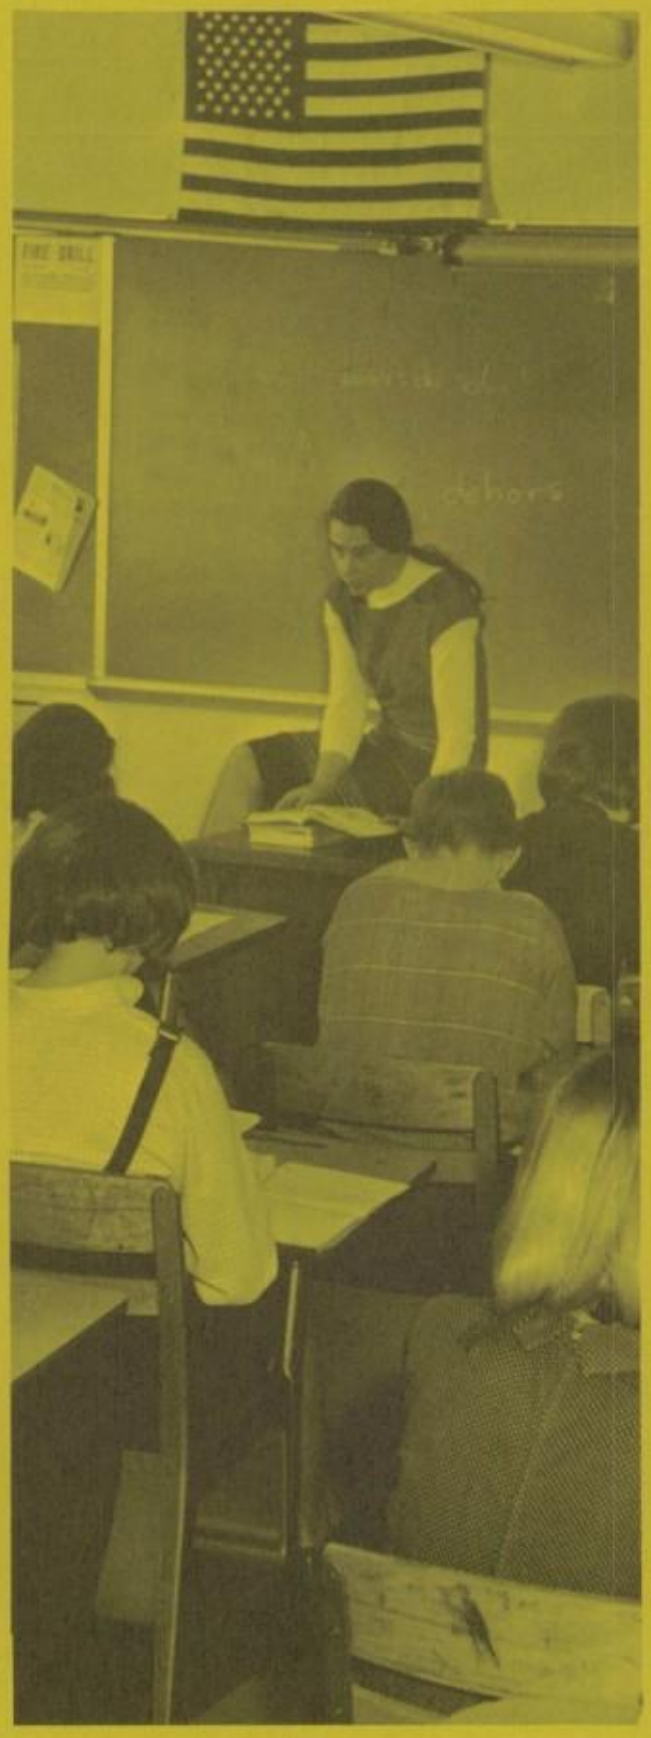
academics





Language at Bethel includes English grammar and literature, speech, French, Latin, and Spanish. English in the seventh and eighth grades puts a special emphasis on the appropriate and correct phase of grammar. In the ninth grade, grammar and literature occupy about the same amount of the year's time. A study of the combining of analysis and composition of authors and their works is stressed in the tenth grade. Junior and senior classes rapidly review all of the formal grammar so that book reports, term papers, and other compositions can be written with skill. In speech class the students acquire a skill in speaking publicly in an intelligent manner. 1968 was the last year that Latin was offered. A new subject, Spanish, taught by a new teacher, brought out a whole new aspect to the language department.

humanities link past with present

Social Studies provide a knowledge of the student's heritage concerning his community, state, nation, and world. Its purpose is to teach students of their past and present environment.

Ohio History, a seventh grade course, acquaints the student with the state in which he lives.

Eighth and eleventh grade American history is the study of America's founding through present day events.

World history in the tenth grade is concentrated on man's progress in civilization throughout the world.

Senior government is aimed toward helping the student understand the United States government.

Economics helps the student learn to manage money and finances.

Lydia Oder's history project is one of the many things the junior high students accomplish in their history classes.

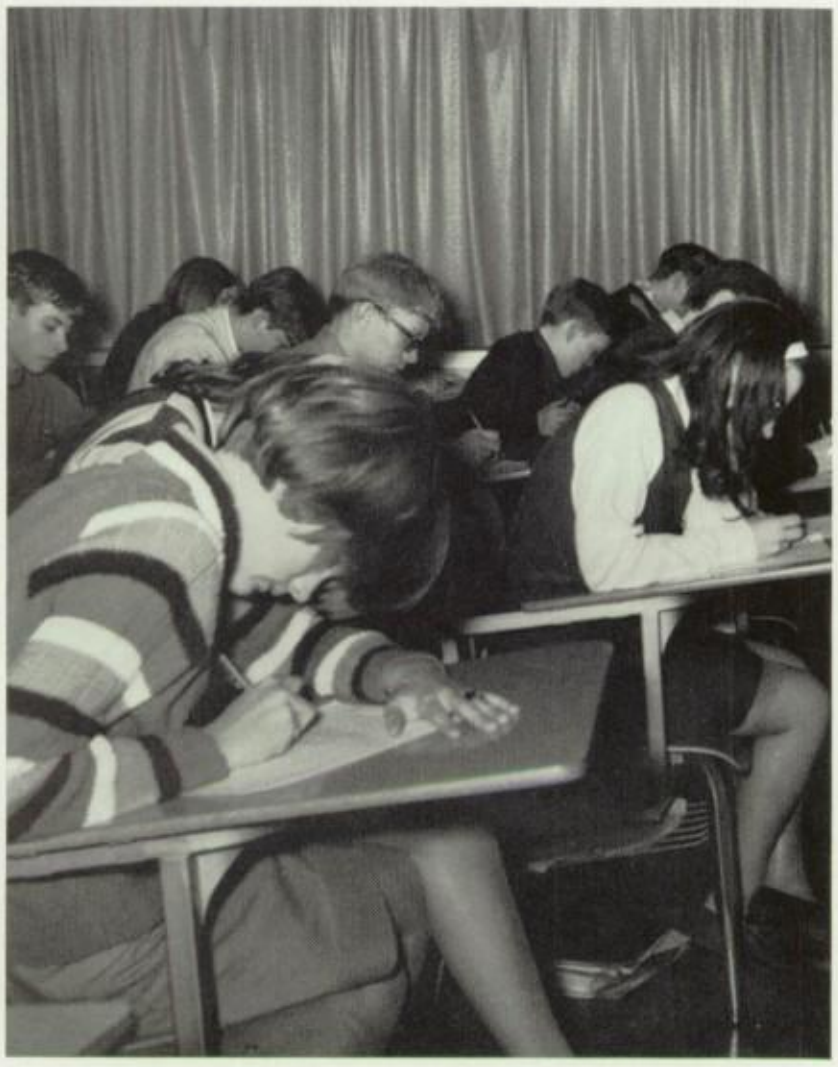
Mr. Ronald Schultz's world history students find the course very amusing at times.

math, science are deciding factors in development of logic

The science department includes general science, introductory physical science (I.P.S.), biology, chemistry, physics, senior science, and psychology. A general science course, which is taken in the seventh and eighth grade, covers all general subjects in the science field.

I.P.S. is an early simplified chemistry course. This is the second year it has been offered at Bethel. One may take biology which increases his knowledge of plants and animals. Chemistry is the study of the different chemicals and their properties. In physics one learns why things move and react as they do. The study of life and its make-up is classified as senior science. By studying psychology, one learns the different ways and reasons why people react as they do.

Students look on intently as Mr. Garlough proceeds to show them various chemical tests in their I.P.S. course.



Individual assistance is one of the objectives in Mr. Little's jr. high math course.

Math gives the student a logical and mathematical approach to problems in his present and future life. One must begin math in the seventh and eighth grade by taking modern math, a more simplified way to reach a mathematical answer. In the ninth grade one may take Algebra I to learn to do things quickly and more logically. It deals with formulas and letters. Geometry deals with different shapes and forms. In Algebra II one learns a more advanced math than Algebra I provides. Senior math is the most advanced math course offered at Bethel. General business math helps a student in figuring bills and different business propositions.

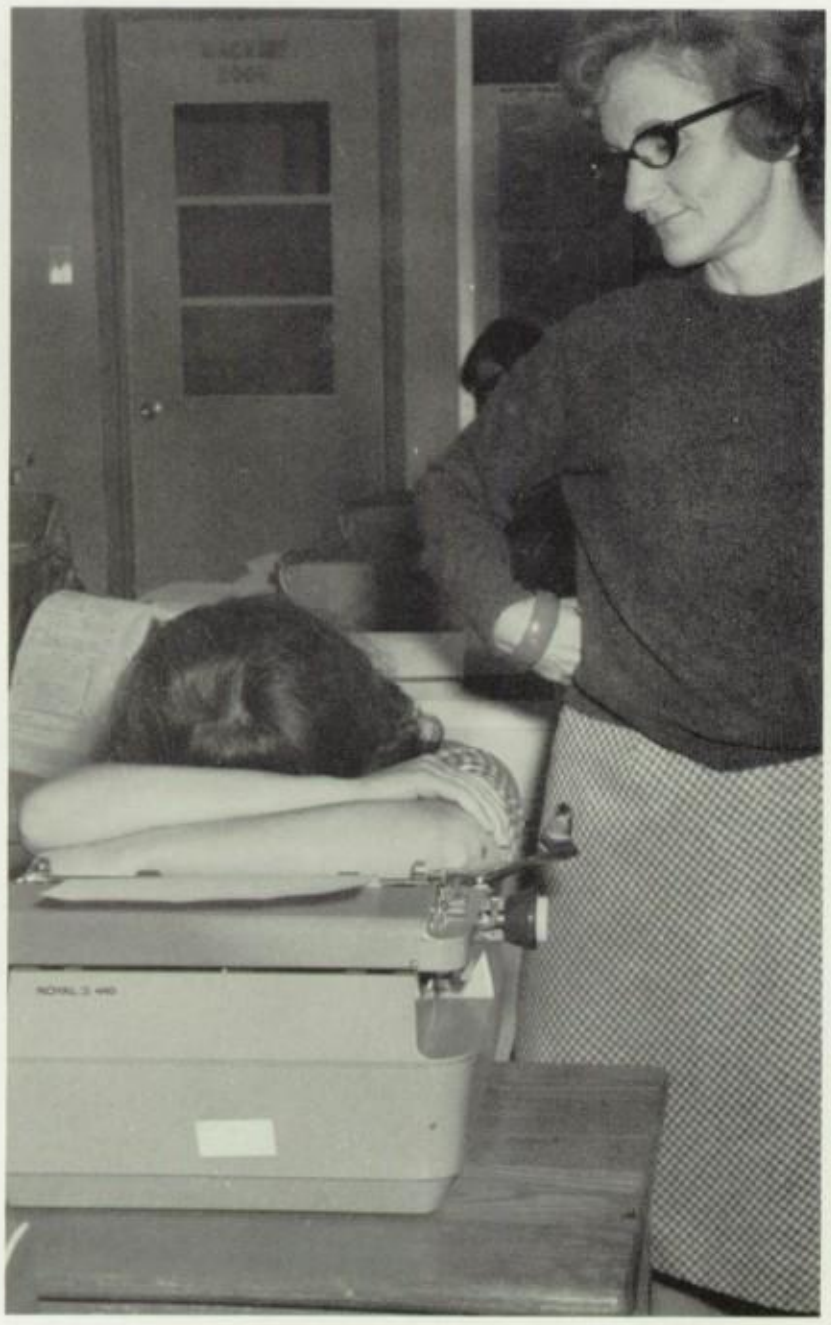
a glimpse of the

The newest vocational program at Bethel is the commercial IBOE. IBOE stands for Intensive Business Office Education. The goal behind the program is to train good office workers rather than students skilled in one particular subject. With Mrs. Corbin and Mrs. Godbey as advisors, the fifteen junior girls and ten senior girls find much to do besides regular studies in shorthand, typing, and business machines. For example, tickets, programs, posters, and newsletters with a professional touch were produced in the blocks of time called IBOE. In the four-period block of time, there is no regular time schedule to be followed; and according to the girls, more is accomplished.

Industrial arts helps the students develop skill in the use of hand and power tools materials and processes used by industry. Mechanical drawing parallels somewhat with the shop courses by teaching the fundamentals of making and using work drawings. It is a universal graphic language by means of which the form, size, finish, color, and construction of an object can be described accurately and clearly. Mechanical drawing is the language used by engineers and architects.

Home Economics is the training of girls to become good homemakers and mothers. It includes home experience projects, sewing, cooking, refinishing, and child-care. It is felt to be very essential for the students who are going to further their education and for those who are not.

old and new



Mrs. Lucy Godbey watched over many highly industrious students as she improved their skill in typing.

Mrs. Gladys Corbin gives individual attention to the girls in senior I.B.O.E.

Students learn accuracy and skill in today's modern courses in Mr. Daniel Griffith's mechanical drawing class.

Looking in the card catalogue, Vanessa Collela finds one book out of more than seven thousand possible choices.

Miss Gareth LaVelle looks on as her students attempt to improve their coordination.

Continual practice makes for an outstanding marching band, of which Bethel is justifiably proud.

total growth of mind, body, and talents concerns b.h.s.

The extra curricular activities at Bethel are all based around the library, music, and athletic departments.
The library gives a student
a place to relieve tension, find references, or
just see new ideas.
The music department is advancing each year in growth and interest. It provides the school and community with entertainment through several annual concerts at Christmas and Easter.
The athletic department helps the students physically and mentally through the physical exercise it provides to the students during and after school hours.

The Varsity Basketball team this year combined enthusiasm and ability to mark up a respectable record of 11 wins and 8 losses. Under the guidance of Mr. Bill Johnston the twelve man squad went five games into the tournament before being defeated, ending the 67-68 basketball season with 15 wins and 9 losses.

Five returning lettermen on the Varsity team provided the experience and sureness necessary for the development of a good team: two juniors, Gail Plunkett and Dan Zoeller, and three seniors, Jon Plunkett, Dave Dinsmore, and Bruce Bayman. Two more seniors, Gary Wells and Chris Swanson, and the rest of the varsity team through spirit on the bench helped unify the team representing Bethel High School.

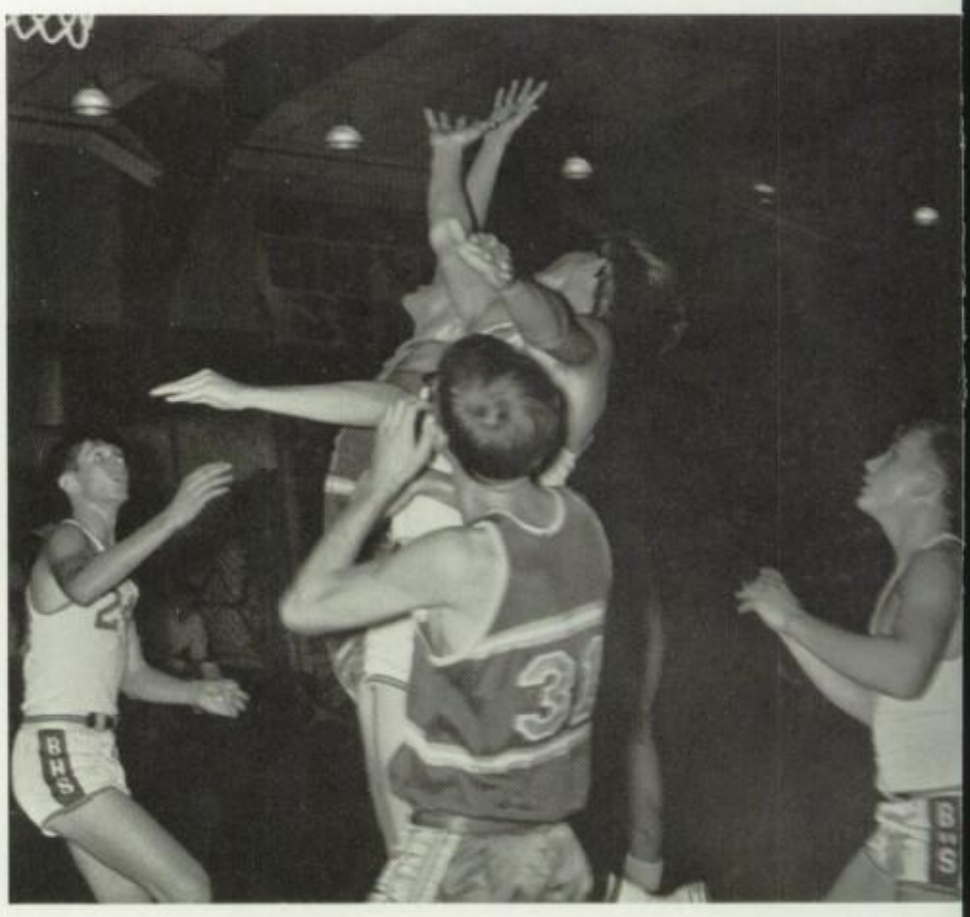
The reserve basketball team is actually a training program for the younger, less experienced players. Playing reserve helps develop skills which will be necessary in varsity basketball. This year's team, under the direction of Mr. Dennis Reck, combined experience from juniors, Chuck Feirstine and Dennis Lawson, with enthusiasm from the rest of the team to compile a winning season of 10 wins and 9 losses. The reserves showed signs of a promising future with two juniors, seven sophomores, and three freshmen on the team. The reserves' nineteen-game schedule consisted of six "AA" schools and thirteen of the toughest Class "A" schools in the area.



Guess goes high for rebound while G. Plunkett and Lawson look on.

This year's track team showed great improvement over earlier years. First of all many more boys participated than before. Secondly, fine individual performances were put in by two of the boys.

Dan Zoeller, winner of the Track award, had a fine year. He was first in the state in the mile. He set a new school record at 4:27.8. Rini Bosma didn't place in the state, but he placed fourth in the regional in the high jump.

The sixty-four senior high band and majorettes led an eventful year by attending the Mum Festival, the Bradford Pumpkin Festival, and the New Carlisle Veteran's Day Parade. The band played at contests at different schools and ensembles. They also put on a Christmas and a spring concert, and an ice cream social.

The seventh grade band is organized as a step to high school band. Their instructor, Dennis Lavy, teaches them to play the instruments, and they also learn co-operation. Activities for the year included Christmas and spring concerts, solo and ensemble contests with other schools. The approximate membership was sixteen.

This year's new chorus director, Neil Zimmerman, led the group through an exciting year of firsts. For example, the chorus produced the school's first musical, "Leave it to Jane," in which Jan Frazier and Rinus Bosma played the two leading roles. The chorus also presented a Christmas program and an Easter Sunrise Service.

Junior high chorus is a step to high school chorus. It's used to encourage the students to sing. This year's junior high chorus had sixty-five members. They presented Christmas and Easter Concerts.

The yearbook staff had two books on which they had to work, THE STINGER and the elementary yearbook called "THE LITTLE BEES. The staff designed their own layouts and pasted up their own copy and pictures. This year the staff put on a sales kick-off assembly with a skit called "Yearbook Casserole." In the skit were all the parts that make up the yearbook. To conclude the assembly a film on how the yearbook is made was shown.

New this year was the elementary newspaper, THE BEE HIVE, put out by staff members, Terry Froystad, Marcia Moyer, Bernie Bensman, and Mary Lee. The staff also attended a newspaper workshop in the fall at Ohio State University.

council supports korean child

The Student Council was led into an eventful year by their president Anita Bowman. This year for the first time the council helped support a six-years-old child from Korea. They also sponsored the Homecoming and a food drive for the needy families of the community

Myung Ok was adopted by Student Council.

Monthly council meetings helped President Bowman to keep members Earline Burns and Cathy Lynch up to date.

Carlos Leach and Kathy Holtson discussed record choices with W.I.N.G. disc jockey.

Couples danced under red crepe paper streamers and cupids.

"Heart of My Heart" was the theme for this year's Sweetheart Swing on February 17.
King and Queen were the freshman candidates, Joanne Bowman and Gary Plunkett. The other candidates were seniors, Peggy Peters and Mike Williams; juniors, Kathy Holtson and Scott Dickinson; sophomores, Christy Burkle and Gary Bostwick.

Grades nine through twelve chose the royal couple and their court: Peggy Peters, Mike Williams, Christy Burkle, Gary Bostwick, Joanne Bowman, Gary Plunkett, Kathy Holtson, and Scott Dickinson.

"It's Great to be Crazy" was presented by the senior class and played on both the fifth and sixth of April. Like the junior class play it was a success and was enjoyed by many.

The play was a three act comedy about a family who thought they had ancestors who were crazy and the insanity was in their blood. It turned out that they received the wrong family tree and they were all sane.

The junior class play, "Man Overboard," was presented on October 20 and 21. This three act part-drama, part-comedy was a huge success both nights. The juniors put on the play as a money earning project to enable them to have the prom for the seniors. To celebrate, a well-planned and successful cast party followed the performance.

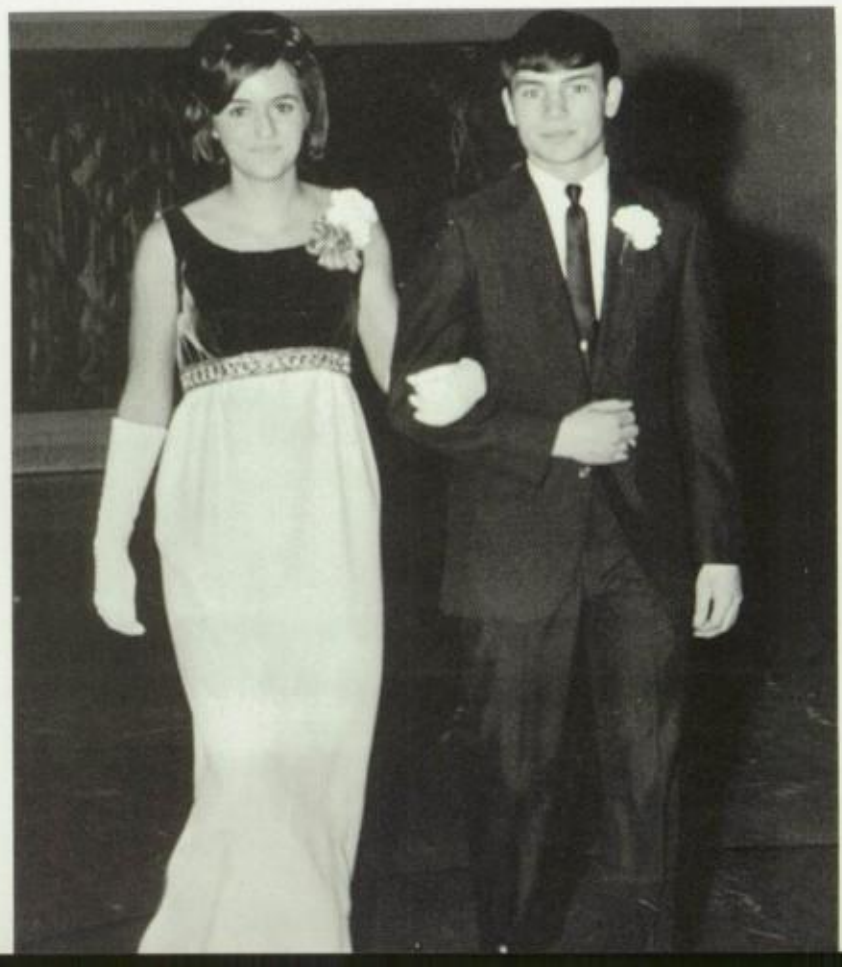
a bowman reigns over homecoming

Queen Anita and Dewayne radiated poise and pride at being chosen by their fellow classmates.

Homecoming, the big event of the year was presented by the Student Council. This Year's Queen, Anita Bowman, and her escort, Dewayne Hasty, reigned over the basketball game and dance which followed. The Queen's court consisted of Carla Bills and Bruce Bayman, Candy Cain and David Dinsmore, Diane Dickinson and Dick Plunkett, Vicki Fisher and Dick Eastman, Kathy Leach and Leo Bosma, and Peggy Peters and Jon Plunkett.



Freshmen chose Victory to represent the Homecoming float theme, "My Favorite Things".

Items of graduation such as a class flower and a diploma were the seniors' favorites.

The winning float made by the juniors was entitled "Intangible Things."

Music, the theme for the sophomore float, was represented by records, a record player, and sheet music.

Mr. John K. Senseman, after attending Bethel for 12 years, graduated in 1942. He later attended the University of Cincinnati. Manchester College, Ohio State University, and Miami University.

He taught at Bethel for three years and was high school principal at Miami Central for three years. He returned to Bethel as Superintendent in 1955 and is now entering his fourteenth year in this capacity.

His credits include the 1956 shop addition, and the 1964 Bond Issue which added the second high school addition. More recently came the 1968 Bond Issue that is now under construction, which will include a new music room, among other things.

Under his supervision, psychology, economics, a new commercial program called I.B.O.E., and a year-round kindergarten for the 1968-69 school year are just a few of the improvements made in the curriculum since 1955.

As his past record indicates, Mr. Senseman is ever striving for improvements in facilities and curriculum and is grateful to the community for its support which has made possible the continuing growth of Bethel School. His hopes for the future include more classrooms, a high school cafeteria, football, and guidance at the elementary level, as just a few of the improvements in his long-range plans.

The graduating class of '68 attended the annual Baccalaureate services on the afternoon of May 28, 1968, in the high school gym. After the invocation by Rev. Elam Dohner, from the Phoneton Brethren in Christ Church, Rev. Thornton Black, from the West Charleston Church of the Brethren, addressed the seniors, their parents, and guests. The high school choir, under the direction of Mr. Neil Zimmerman, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone", and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You".

The evening Commencement exercises began with the traditional procession of the fifty-one seniors to the refrains of "Pomp and Circumstance". After the invocation by Rev. John Redman from the Brandt United Methodist Church, Pam Rodgers, class salutatorian, presented her speech. The presentation of awards by Mr. John K. Senseman, superintendent of schools, and Mr. William M. Berry, high school principal, followed. The three top seniors were Jeanette Frazier, Pamela Rodgers, and Deborah Martin; the citizenship award went to Anita Bowman, and the "I Dare You" Award, to Kathy Leach. After the awards were given, Deborah Martin, class historian, gave the history of the seniors; and Jeanette Frazier, Valedictorian, presented her speech. Mr. William Berry then presented the senior class and Mr. J. C. Miller, president of the board of education, presented the seniors with the long-awaited and well-earned diplomas. After the benediction, the graduates left the gymnasium and then returned for congratulations and pictures.

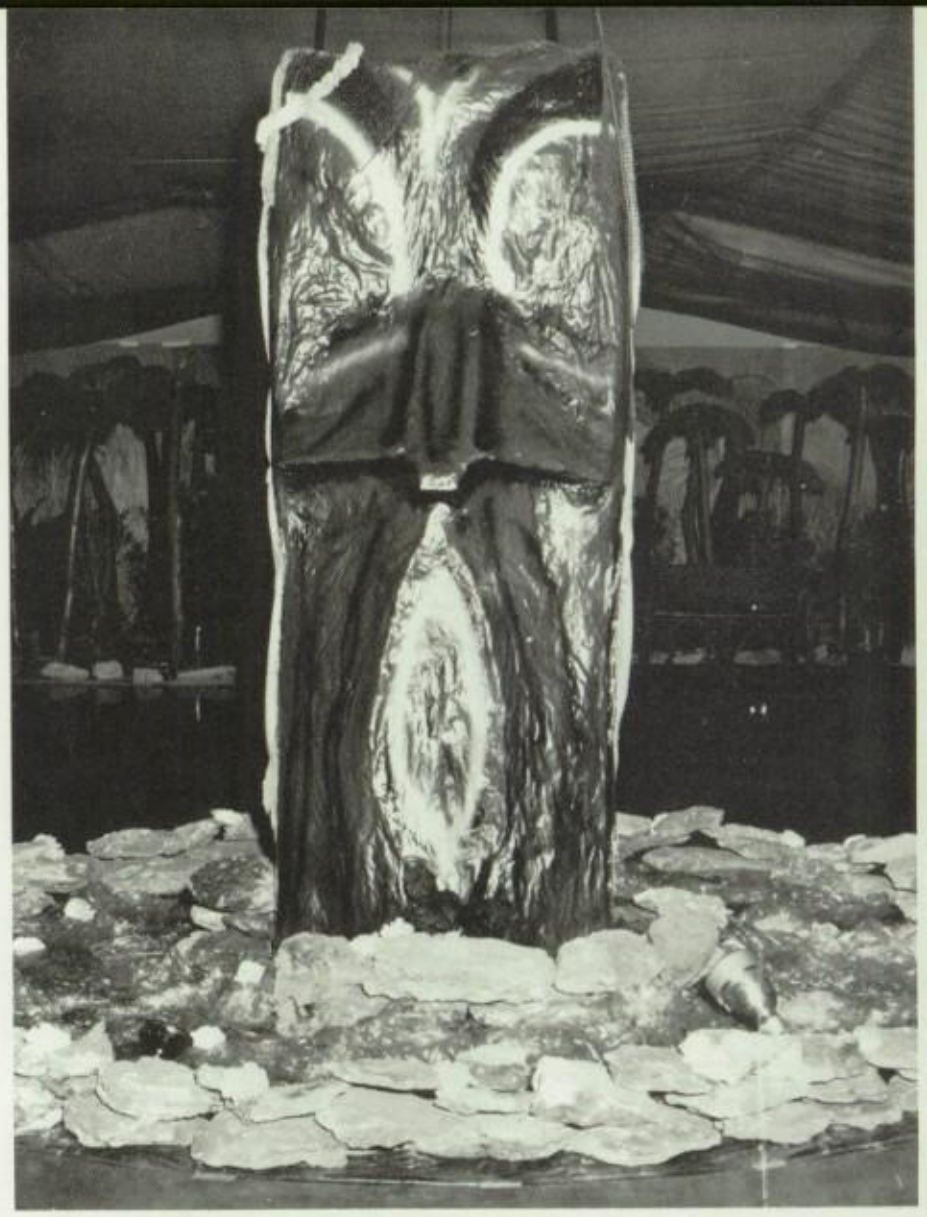
juniors present polynesian paradise

This year the juniors along with the help of the sophomores began work very early on the prom. Good planning and good committees worked together to give the deserving seniors a memorable prom. The pictures on these two pages indicate just what the seniors expect and this year the juniors lived up to their goal in presenting their Polynesian Paradise.



A giant Tiki God confronted the students as they entered the prom.

In order for the prom-goers to get to the juniors' Polynesian Island, they needed a boat. Therefore, the juniors furnished a ship with a gang-plank and sea-going music.

A lovely waterfall enhanced the setting of the Polynesian Paradise.

Prom-goers could also have their pictures taken in the Polynesian Hut.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry enjoy a waltz.

Miss Carla Bills with her escort Bruce Bayman was crowned Queen of the 1968 Junior-Senior prom.

district champs

With the conclusion of the Bethel Bees' Basketball season the team, coach, and all fans turned their heads toward tournament time. For years Bethel's chances of going places went down the drain with the first game. But things were completely different this year. With the backing of students and community, and sheer determination, Bethel's twelve-man team went six games until finally meeting defeat.

The first victims to fall to the Bees were the Triad Cardinals. After starting off slowly, the Bees jumped ahead and won their first tournament game in many years, 76--54. With this victory, the Bees gained enough determination and desire to go on and win their second game over seeded Yellow Springs Bulldogs. It was a very hard-fought game, but Bethel came through to win 79--76.

In the first game of the '66-'67 tournament, Bellebrook toppled the Bethel Bees, 75--42. During the '67-'68 semi-finals the Bees gained revenge and a chance to win the district championship by defeating the Bellebrook Eagles, 81--72. By defeating Bellebrook, the Bees moved into the finals against a tough Anna team. Anna was undefeated going into the tournament at 23--0. At Hobart Arena on Friday, March 8, 1968, the Bees and the Anna Rockets collided. The Bees jumped ahead to an 8--0 lead and never let the Rockets catch them. Bethel won 81--77. The Bees were No. 1 and the district champs! The following Wednesday, the Bees met the Tigers of Lincoln Heights in the first game of the regionals play-offs. The out-heighted Bees started off to a slow start and were down by eleven at half-time, But the Bees came back and gave the Tigers a run for their money. Just as the Bees thought they had a chance to win, the time ran out; and the Bees fell 63--60.

Although this was the end of the Bees' 67-68 basketball team, they did more for this school than just winning the district championship; they did something for Bethel that can't be explained in just words. They made a name for Bethel and instilled a pride in the student body and personnel.

it's great to be no. 1
